Hide them Away.

BY ANN PAGE. Hide them, O hide them all away-His cap, his little frock, And take from out my aching sight You curling, golden lock; Ah, once it waved upon his brow!

Ye torture me anew-Leave not so dear a token here-Ye know not what ye do! Last night the moon came in my room,

And on my bed did lie; I woke, and in the silver light I thought I heard him cry. I leaned towards the little crib, The curtain drew aside

Before, half-sleeping, I bethought Me, my boy had died! Take them away! I cannot look On naught that breathes of him! Oh, take away the silver cup, the line have touched its brim;

Take the straw hat from off the wall, 'Tis wreathed with withered flowers; The rustling leaves do whisper me, Of all the loved lost hours. The rattle with its music balls-

Oh! do not let them sound! The dimpled hand that grasped them once Is cold beneath the ground, The willow wagon on the lawn Through all my tears I see ;

It is an agony His shoes are in the corner, nurse, His little feet no more

Roll it away, Oh, gentle roll,

Will patter like the falling rain Fast up and down the floor. And turn that picture to the wall-His loving, mournful eye Is piercing through my very heart, Again I see him die ! Oh, anguish! how he gazed on me When panted out his breath! I never, never knew before How terrible was death.

My boy-my own-my only one-Art thou forever gone? O God! help me to bear the stroke That leaves me all alone.

COURT SCANDAL .- The courts of royalty have always been famous for scandal. A rich piece is related of the Spanish Court, of which a correspondent in London sends the Philadelphia Ledger an account, but as it is the English representation of the affair, it may be exaggerated. A serious quarrel occurred on the evening of the 28th of March between Queen ence of a select party assembled at her royal daughter's supper-table. Queen Isabella grew somewhat impatient at this mandlin exhibition, and gave her mother a hint to be quiet. Thereupon Christina actually reproached her daughter, in the presence of the lime of such a desirable consummation. Even that the presence of the lime of such a desirable consummation. War Department, March 26, 1849. Rules in relation to claims provided for by an act of Congress, approved 3dlMarch, 1849, entitled "An act to provide for the payment of horses and other property lost or destroyed in the military service of the United States." A LL CLAIMS under the provisions of this act must be presented at the office of the Third Auditor of the Treasury Department, and each must be substantiated by such evidence as is hereinafter designated, with respect to eases of the class under which it falls

First Class of Cases.

By the first section of the law it is enacted: "That any field, or staff, or other officer, mounted militiaman, colunteer, ranger, or cavalry, engaged in the military service of the United States since the 18th of June, 1812, or who shall hereafter be in said service, and has sustained or shall sustain damage, without any fault of negligence on his part while in said service, by the loss of a horse in battle, or by the loss of a horse wounded in battle, and which has died, or shall die of said wound, or being so wounded shall be abandoned by order of his officer and tost, or shall sustain damage by the loss of any horse by death or abandonment, because of the unavoidable dangers of the sea when on board a United States transport vessel, or because the United States failed to supply transportation for the horse, and the owner was compelled, by the order of his commanding officer, to embark and leave him, or in consequence of the United States failing to supply sufficient forage, or because the rider was dismounted and separated from his horse, and ordered to do duty on foot at a station detached from his borse, or when the officer in the immediate command ordered or shall order the horse turned out to graze in the woods, prairies, or commons, because the United States failed, or shall fail to supply sufficient forage, and the loss was or shall be consequent thereof, or for the loss of necessary equipage in consequence of the loss of his horse as aforesaid, shall be allowed and paid the value thereof, not to exceed two hundred dollars; provided, that if any payment has been or shall be made to any one aforesaid for the use and risk, or for forage after the death, loss, or abandonment of his horse, said payment shall be deducted from the value hereof, unless he satisfied or shall satisfy the paymaster at the time he made or shall make the payment, or thereafter show by proof that he was re-mounted, in which ease the deduction shall only extend to the ime he was on foot; and provided also, it any payment shall have been or shall hereafter be made to any person above-mentioned on account of chathing to which he was not entitled by law, such pay- Logansport; L. Beecher, Fort Wayne; A. B. Merritt, South sends ment shall be deducted from the value of his horse or accourte

To establish a claim under this provision the claimant must adduce the evidence of the officer under whose command he served when the loss occurred, if alive; or, if dead, then of the next surviving officer, describing the property, the value thereof, at the time of entering the service, the time and manner in which the loss happened, and whether or not it was sustained without any fault or negligence on the claimant's part. The evidence should also, in case the claimant was re-mounted after the loss, state when he was re-mounted, how long he continued so, and explain whether the horse whereon he was re-mounted had not been furnished by the United States, or been owned by another mounted militiaman or volunteer to whom payment for the use and risk thereof, or for its forage, whilst in the possession of the claimant, may have been made; and if it had been thus owned, should name the person and the command to which he belonged. And in every instance in which the claim may extend to equipage, the several acticles of which the same consisted, and separate value of each, should be

Second Class of Cases. The second section of the law enacts: "That any person who has sustained or shall sustain damage by the capture or destruction by an enemy, or by the abandonment or destruction by the order of the commanding general, the commanding officer, or quartermaster, of any horse, mule, ox, wagon, cart, boat, sleigh, or harness, while such property was in the military service of the United States, either by impressment or contract, except in cases where the risk to which the property would be exhas sustained or shall sustain damage by the death or abandonment and loss of any such horse, mule, or ox, while in the service aforesaid, in consequence of the failure on the part of the United States to furnish the same with sufficient forage, and any person who has lost, or shall lose, or has had or shall have destroyed by unavoidable accident any horse, mule, ox, wagon, cart, boat, sleigh, or harness, while such property was in the service aforesaid, shall be allowed and paid the value thereof at the time he entered the service: provided it shall appear that such loss, capture, abandonment, destruction, or death, was without any fault or negligence on the part of the owner of the property, and while it was actually employed in the service of the United States."

To establish a claim under this provision it will, in addition to the testimony required under the head of first class of cases, be necessary in cases where the property lost was in the service by contract or impressment, to produce the testimony of the officer or agent of the United States who impressed or contracted for the service of the property mentioned in such claim, and also of the officer under whose command the same was employed at the time of the capture, destruction, loss, or abandonment, declacing in what way the property was taken into the service of the United States, the value thereof, whether or not the risk to which it would be exposed was agreed to be incurred by the owner, and whether or not, as regarded horses, mules, oxen, he engaged to supply the same with sufficient forage, in what manner the loss happened, and whether or not it was sustained without any fault or negligence on his part.

The fifth section of the law enacts: "That in all instances where any minor has been or shall be engaged in the military service of the United States, and was or shall be provided with a horse or equipments, or military accountrements, by his parent or guardian, and has died, or shall die, without paying for said property, and the same has been or shall be lost, captured, destroyed, or abandoned, in the manner before mentioned, said parent or guardian shall be allowed pay therefor, on making satisfactory proof as in other cases, and the further proof that he is entitled thereto, by having furnished the same," A parent or guardian of a deceased minor will therefore, in addition to such testimony applicable to his claim as is previously described, have to furnish proof that he provided the minor with the property therein mentioned, that the minor died without paying for such property, and that he the parent or guardian, is entitled to payment for it by his having furnished the same.

The sixth section of the law enacts: I hat in an instances where any person, other than a minor, ha been, or shall be, engaged in the military service aforesaid, and has been, or shall be, provided with a horse or equipments, or with military accourrements, by any person, the owner thereof, who has risked, or shall take the risk, of such horse, equipments, er military accourrements on himself, and the same has been or shall be lost, captured, destroyed, or abandoned, in the manner before mentioned, such owner shall be allowed pay therefor, on making proof, as in other cases, and the further proof that he is entitled thereto by having furnished the same, and having taken the risk on himself." Besides the testimony in support of his claim herein before required, every such owner thereof will have to prove that he did provide the horse, equipments, or military accontrements therein mentioned, and took the risk thereof on himself, and that he is entitled to pay therefor, by having furnished the same and taken the risk thereof on himself; and this proof should be contained in a deposition of the person who had been so provided by him with such horse, equipments, or military accourrements.

Third Class of Cases. The seventh section of the law enacts: "That in all cases where horses have been condemned by a board of officers on account of their unfitness for service, in consequence of the government failing to supply forage, all such horses and their equipage shall be allowed and paid for, whenever the facts shall be proven by legal and satisfactory evidence, whether oral or written, that such condemned horse and the equipage was turned over to a quartermaster of the army, whether any receipt therefor was given and produced or not." To establish a claim under this provision the claimant must adduce the evidence of the witnesses mentioned under the head of first class cases, satisfactorily proving that the property therein described was, while in the military service of the United States, condemned by a board of officers on account of their being rendered unfit for service ia consequence of the government failing to supply forage, and that such property was turned over to a quar-termaster of the United States army, explaining when the claimant was re-mounted, &c., as required in said first class of cases.

In no case can the production of the evidence previously described be dispensed with, unless the impracticability or producing it be clearly proved, and then the nearest and best other evidence of which the case is susceptible must be furnished in heu thereof. Every claim must be accompanied by a deposition of the claim-ant, "declaring that he has not received from any officer or agent of the United States any horse or horses, equipage, accontrements, mule, wagon, cart, boat, sleigh, or harness, (as the case may be) in lieu of the property lost, nor any compensation for the same," and be supported, if practicable, by the original valuation list, if made by the appraisers of the property at the time the same was taken into the United States service, and in cases where the loss is alleged to have occurred, because the United States failed to supply transportation for the horse, and the owner was compelled by the order of his commanding officer to embark and leave him, as provided for in the first section of the law; the affidavit of the claimant most, in addition to the declaration above mentioned, declare "that he did, in obedience to the order of his officer, leave said horse and equipage, and that he never sold or otherwise disposed of the said horse or equipage, and never received any compensation for said horse or equipage from any person whatever."
All evidence other than the certificates of officers who, at the time of giving them, were in the military service of the United States, must be sworn to before some judge, justice of the Peace, or other person duly authorized to administer oaths, and of which authority proof should accompany the evidence. GEO. W. CRAWFORD, Secretary of Wat.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Third Auditor's Office, March 31, 1849. Each claimant can have the sum which may be allowed on his claim remitted to him direct, on his signifying a wish to that effect, and naming the place of his residence; but if the money is to be remit ted or paid to any other person, a power of attorney to him from the claimant, duly executed and authenticated, should be forwarded with To facilitate the requisite searches, and avoid delay in the adjustment of the claims, each claimant should name on his papers the paymaster or other disbursing officer by whom he was paid for the services of himself, horse, wag in . cart, team, boat, &c. PETER HAGNER, Third Auditor.

Advertisements of patent medicines, our readers are aware, base been excluded from our columns for several years past. Our object 1. We are not in favor of keeping secret either moral or physical remedies for "the ills that flesh is beir to." 2. The grossest impositions are often practiced on the community by the venders of such medicine. 3. Patients are often induced, by the flattering recommendations t them to drug themselves without discretion, and much to their injury many times; an evil, by the way, which is common to the use of active medicines, without professional advice. On the other hand we have no doubt there are patent medicines, whateverm a be our objection to the principle of patenting them, hat are valuable remedies for certain specific diseases, the publication of which is an act of benevolence.
